

For your amusement, courtesy of Twitter:

- I have a statistics joke, but it's pretty mean. (@DrMRFrancis)
- I have a bioinformatics joke – it's a blast! (@iddux)
- I have an inheritance joke, but it's not worth passing on. (@PdraicFlood)
- I had a joke about a 3'UTR, but it got lost in translation. (@SamWuest1)
- I have a lot of good plant breeding jokes, but I don't know which one to select.
(@scott_stelpflug)
- I have a convergent evolution joke, but it's been done before. (@WildWildTWest)
- I have a gneome assembly joke. (@ianholmes)
- I have a good joTRANSPOSONSke about. (@DamonLisch)
- I have a sequencccccing jokeoke, but it's pretty low qnnnnnlity. (@dmaccannell)
- I have a fertilizer joke, but it's crap. (@Merlotmike)
- I had a joke about botany, but it's terrible, so I'll leaf it out. (@jhrdub)
- I have a soil joke, but it's kinda dirty. (@IronMonika)
- I have a soil joke, but it's not well structured. (@thePRSSS)
- I have a biostatistics consulting joke, but NO ONE WILL LISTEN TO ME.
(@jon_y_huang)
- I'll have a plant breeding joke ready in about 20years. (@antonwasson)
- I have a phenology joke, but the timing is not right. (@Albert_Ruhi)
- I had a joke about blackgrass, but all I was met with was resistance. (@ImDrSarahCook)
- I have a joke about invasive species, but this isn't the place for it. (@GenReyn)
- I have a joke about meiosis, but it might be divisive. (@adernburg)
- I'd add another joke about genomes, but there's a lot of repeats. (@hammerheadbat)
- I have a joke about fungal infections of plants, but it's a bit smutty. (@xchmadhouse)

- I have a joke about aphid host use, but it's a bit specific. (@simonsegar)
- Can we joke about grasses? Or are they too glumey? (@WildPlantsCan)
- I had a joke about mutations, but it isn't funny anymore. (@EntoProf)

**BONUS visual joke** For anyone who took organic chemistry:

<https://twitter.com/TJQPNI/status/1287472191567732736?s=20>