

Courtesy of InterGrain: Oat Trial Site at Nabawa in Chapman Valley, Western Australia - August 2021

The long-awaited 11th International Oat Conference is now only 5 months away!

Delayed for 2 years by COVID, it's now been 6 years since the last International Oat Conference was held and we know that the international oat community is itching (.....pun intended) to get together again to talk all things oats!!

The International Oat Conference Organising Committee and the team at GIWA are excited to be hosting OAT2022 in Perth, Western Australia from October 10th to 13th.

OAT2022 Call for Abstracts extended!

The Conference Steering Committee are looking forward to receiving your expression of interest to present either virtually or in person. We understand that there is a lot going on globally at present and that submitting an Abstract may not currently be your highest priority, so we will continue to accept Abstracts beyond the previously advertised 15 May deadline.

We appreciate delegates want to see a Program locked in for the Conference, so do please get your Abstracts in as soon as possible. For more details and to access the templates visit www.internationaloat.com or email admin@giwa.org.au. Abstracts of a scientific research nature, and those of a more narrative style from other parts of the oat and health sectors, are both welcome and will be considered for inclusion in the Program.

In other OAT2022 News....

We have just made registrations live for four affiliated Workshops to take place following the 11th International Oat Conference. Three will be held in Perth, Western Australia on Friday, 14 October 2022 and an additional Workshop will take place on the other side of Australia in Cobbitty, New South Wales on Monday, 18 and Tuesday, 19 October 2022.

Registrations are essential and numbers are limited, for more visit <https://www.internationaloat.com/program/workshops/>.

Register now to be part of this long-awaited Conference

Registrations are open and we are looking forward to meeting you! In person and virtual attendance is available. If you are still unsure whether you will be able to travel, secure your ticket now by registering for virtual attendance and upgrade later to attend in person if desired.